MoMA ANNOUNCES ODILI DONALD ODITA: SONGS FROM LIFE, A NEW COMMISSION CREATED SPECIFICALLY FOR THE MUSEUM'S MAIN LOBBY, OPENING IN APRIL 2025

NEW YORK, February 24, 2025—The Museum of Modern Art announces Odili Donald Odita: Songs from Life, a new site-specific commission in the Museum's main lobby, opening on April 8, 2025, and on view through 2025. For this project, Odita and his team will work from February to April to envelop the entire lobby in bright planes of interweaving colors. Visitors will have the opportunity to see the artist at work during public hours, and can scan a QR code to listen to an accompanying playlist of songs Odita used as primary sources of inspiration for the commission. Odili Donald Odita: Songs from Life is organized by Ugochukwu-Smooth Nzewi, The Steve and Lisa Tananbaum Curator, Department of Painting and Sculpture, with Elizabeth Wickham, Curatorial Assistant, Department of Painting and Sculpture.

"Odita's work reflects the history of abstract painting, African and African American textile traditions, and the indigenous mural art of his Nigerian heritage," said Nzewi. "Drawing references from music and art history, he transforms MoMA's main lobby into a grand opera of brilliant colors and geometric patterns that enrich Museum visitors' experience. We are delighted by this commission, the artist's largest to date."

"I am inspired by a wide range of cultural and personal references, drawing from both African and Western aesthetics, historical associations, and contemporary design and architectural influences," said Odita. "Through abstraction, I aim to reflect the complexities of the human experience, creating patterns and rhythms that resonate on both visual and emotional levels to get the viewer to reflect upon their own circumstances with respect to the artwork's engagement through theme and construction."

Executed with acrylic latex paint used specifically on interior walls, the floor-to-ceiling installation will cover the Museum's lobby in a cascading kaleidoscope of colors that, for the artist, are expressions of freedom and change. Music—the primary source of inspiration for this commission—is also crucial to Odita's practice, as it allows him to think through problems in his paintings and connect with the passion and community it creates among people.

Each section of Songs from Life is anchored by a selection of songs by far-ranging musical influences, including Led Zeppelin, Michael Jackson, Marvin Gaye, Talking Heads, Bill Withers, Fela Anikulapo Kuti, and many more. The selected songs expand upon the artist's consideration of MoMA's main lobby as a gathering space for people from different walks of life confronting life's challenges and finding redemption. Visitors will be able to scan a QR code allowing them to listen to the artist's playlist while taking in the immersive installation.
